

The Family Resource Center is centrally located in Stockbridge, where families of all cultures can find resources and services that are of value to them.

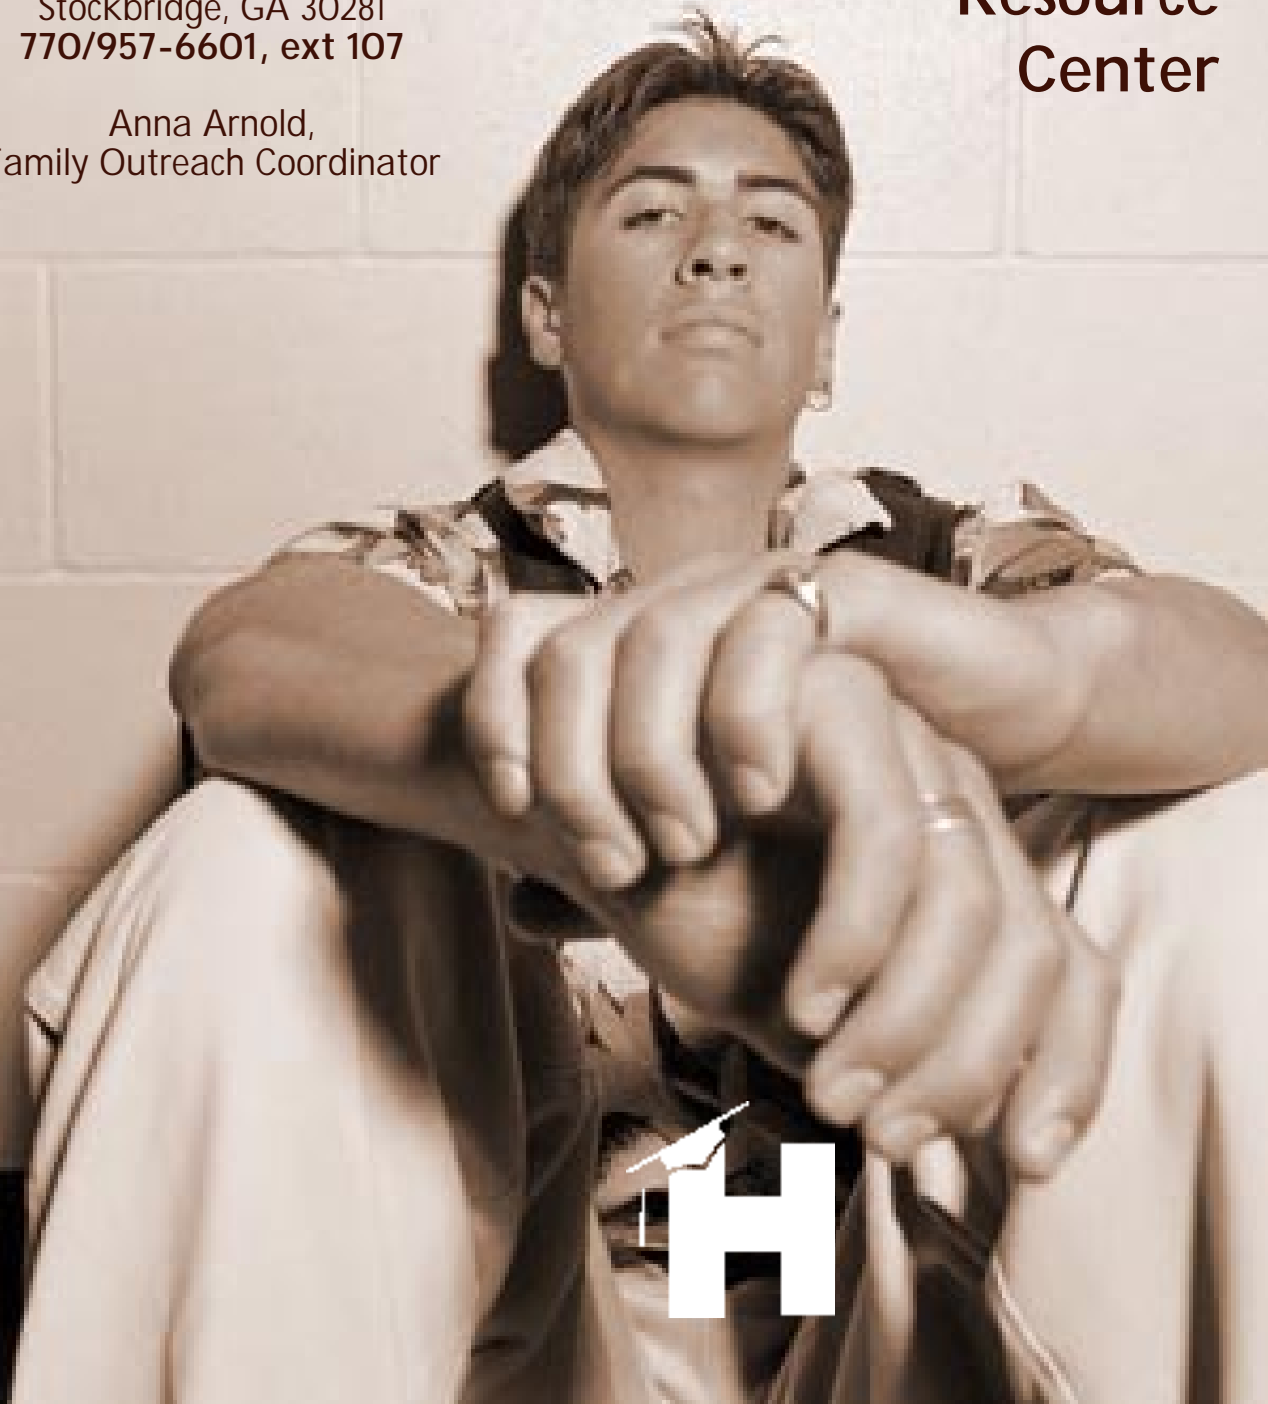

All families need various levels of support at some time. Our goal is to help families focus on their strengths, build confidence, and improve family communication.

The mission of the Family Resource Center is to improve the quality of life and strengthen individuals, children, teens and families through services and activities.

Henry County Schools
Family Resource Center
109 Lee Street
Stockbridge, GA 30281
770/957-6601, ext 107

Anna Arnold,
Family Outreach Coordinator

Family
Resource Center

Welcome to the Family Resource Center! We can help you get more involved in your children's learning by providing assistance with math and reading activities, as well as family activities that reflect your family's culture and language.

Classes and workshops are available on topics such as coping with stress, dealing with peer pressure, preventing teen pregnancy, coping with being a single parent, improving communication skills, helping motivate your child to do homework, and other timely topics.

You can meet other parents and share your child-rearing stories while developing a strong network with other families facing similar challenges.

At the Family Resource Center, you can also find assistance in the following areas:

- parent education
- family to family support
- volunteer opportunities
- time management
- transition assistance
- support groups
- computer training
- community outreach
- family crisis management
- parents as partners in education

