The Dancing Frog

One summer day, a frog named Fred was sitting on a rock in his pond. He looked across the pond and saw a new frog. This frog was dancing from lily pad to lily pad. He was having a lot of fun all by himself.

Fred left his rock and swam over to meet the dancing frog. "Would you teach me how to dance?" he asked.

Dan, the dancing frog, said he would be glad to teach his new friend how to dance. It was easy!

The two new friends spent the afternoon dancing together all around the pond.

Two Sisters

My sister and I get along very well. We share a room, and we love to spend time together. We both enjoy playing outside. We really like climbing the monkey bars. My sister likes to swing, but I like the slide. We also like going to school. My sister is in third grade, and I am in first. After school, we both like to have cookies and milk for snack. We also like to listen to music. I am learning to play the piano, and my sister is learning to play the flute. When we grow up, we want to be teachers.
